

WGS 111 : Introduction to Gender Studies

This course is an introduction to Women's and Gender Studies, an interdisciplinary field that examines the concept of gender and how it intersects with class, race and sexuality. Students will become familiar with key issues and debates in the scholarship, as well as histories of feminism and feminist thought.

Credits 4

Liberal Education Core

Humanities

Semester Offered

Offered fall and spring except spring of even-numbered years