

WRT 285 : Writing Internship

This introductory elective internship is intended to provide any students in the writing program (major or minor) with exploratory, on-site writing-related work experiences and opportunities. The goal is to gain practical experience under the supervision of both a professional in the field and a member of the faculty. Any organization involved in writing or publishing or the promoting of literature, literacy and the arts would serve as appropriate sites. These organizations might include newspaper, magazine, journal and book publishers, advertising and public relations firms, state and local libraries, writers' organizations, arts councils, historical societies and the like. Graded Pass/Fail.

Credits 1-4

Prerequisites

- Sophomore standing;
- Pre-internship seminar;
- Permission of the faculty sponsor and the dean for the School of Arts & Sciences.

Semester Offered

Offered fall, spring, and summer