

WRT 486 : Capstone Proposal

The Capstone Proposal is an opportunity for seniors in the creative and professional writing to design and carry out a long-term project. Projects may include audio, video or multimedia productions, a collection of creative work, public relations campaigns, online publications or advanced research projects. During the preparation semester, students will work with a faculty advisor to select and propose an individual project that is appropriate to their creative and professional goals. This course also helps students deepen their knowledge of potential careers in writing and editing and aids in the development of a professional portfolio. Students will prepare resumes and cover letters, learn about graduate school options, and they will create comprehensive portfolios.
