

SHS 305 : Social Justice and Advocacy

This course is designed to highlight social work's central commitments to diversity, human rights, and social and economic justice. The topics of this course include an examination of human rights and social and economic justice through study and scholarship, and preparing for work with diverse and at-risk populations. Emphasis will be placed on defining and developing skills for culturally competent social work and advocacy, and on promoting social justice and service to all persons.
