

BIO 108 : Human Biology (+lab)

This course is an introduction to human biology. The structure and function of the various organs and systems of the body are discussed. The impact of the environment is discussed, and the basis of various human diseases is explored. This course involves laboratory exercises surveying the various systems of the human body. A $50 lab fee is charged.

Credits 4

Liberal Education Core

Science

Semester Offered

Offered fall